

http://notfortourists.com/viewRadar.aspx?city=NY&radarID=25859

Cambodian is the new Vietnamese

Tuesday, April 14, 2009

Business/Location: Num Pang
Address: 21 E 12th St
City: New York
State: NY
Zip Code: 10003
Phone: 212-255-3271
Website: www.numpangnyc.com/

Posted by: Craig Nelson
 Photo: Craig Nelson

Num Pang

Vietnamese sandwiches have run their fifteen minutes of fame so now it's time for the foodie crowds to move on to...wait for it...Cambodian sandwiches. The wacky New York food world moves in mysterious ways (seriously, why have a billion pizza places opened in the last few weeks?). Enter the quirky Num Pang. These guys servie up peppered catfish, veal meatballs, coconut shrimp, grilled skirt steak, or pulled pork smothered in chili mayo and pickled veggies on a toasted Parisi Bakery roll--a nice touch and nod to old-school New York. Served with an ice-cold blood orange lemonade, and you just found yourself the perfect Union Square lunch. Just be prepared to take these delicious little morsels to go. There's only a few seats upstairs, and they fill up fast.

